3D Female Rejuvenation

Female sexual dysfunction affects 30 to 50% of women and can be attributed to various sexual disorders such as low sexual desire, finding it difficult to become aroused and have an orgasm, experiencing pain during intercourse, as well as various medications, chronic diseases and ageing. Menopause produces fewer sexual hormones that result in the atrophy or degradation of the tissues around the perineum, as well as a loss of function, tissue turgor, sensation and the response to stimulus. At Skin Renewal, we use microinjections of Carbon Dioxide gas, known as Carboxytherapy, to stimulate tissues, increase circulation and stimulate the production of new capillaries. This replenishes the blood supply and thereby restores the function of the tissues.

Carboxytherapy for 3 D Female Rejuvenation From R850 (per treatment)

The following signs and symptoms of female sexual dysfunction, urinary incontinence, menopause and PMS have been reported after Carboxytherapy treatments:

- Improved cosmetic appearance as tissue regains plumpness.
- Improved vaginal tone and Improved functionality of the area.
- Improved urinary symptoms such as stress incontinence, urgency, effective voiding.
- Increased lubrication with less daily dryness and irritation due to improved circulation.
- Treated patients become less prone to thrush due to pH acidification.
- Improved sensation to the area with possible heightened orgasm and libido.
- Improved PMS symptoms with less hot flashes due to increased localised oestrogen.

Owing to the sensitive nature of this programme, a trained medical doctor performs the treatments. Details are kept private and confidential. The treatment schedule involves an initial consult where your doctor will take a thorough history and may request certain blood tests to be done. If you are a suitable candidate, you can begin the 3D Female Rejuvenation programme which includes 6-8 weekly treatments, lasting around 15 minutes per treatment, and a maintenance plan of 1-2 treatments per month after that. The result of each treatment is accumulative.
